Claims 124-129 are pending in this application. The rejection of claim 124 under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by Raddatz et al. is withdrawn in view of applicants amendment.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 124-129 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Raddatz et al., AU 79823/87. Raddatz et al. disclose compounds of formula I useful in the treatment of hypertension or hyperaldosteronism. R2 and R4 may be H or alkyl, R3 may be for example cycloalkylalkyl, alkyl, etc., E may be COO, and Y alkyl. Amino compounds, useful as intermediates therefor are disclosed in formula III at the middle of page 16. [S- (R*, R*) [3-amino-1-(cyclohexylmethyl)-2-hydroxypropyl] carbamic acid 1,1-dimethylethyl ester is specifically disclosed. The instant invention differs from the teaching of Raddatz et al., in that although compounds overlapping applicants are generically disclosed where E is alkyl, the examples show E as H. It would have been prima facie obvious at the time the invention was made to one of ordinary skill in the art to start with the teaching of the Raddatz et al. and especially in view of close compounds already made, to make further disclosed compound of formula III and expect them to be useful in making the title compounds of formula I.

No claim is allowed.
